FOR SALE,
Or to Let, for a Term of Years, or on Ground-Rent for ever,
Four valuable Lots, on the south side of King-street, between Fayette and Henry-streets; each lot fronting 20 feet on King-street, and running back 100 feet to a 12 feet alley.—The situation of this property is such (being in one of the most thriving parts of the town) as to make the possession of it very desirable to any person having money to purchase, more especially to dealers in country produce.
Also, for Sale,
A House and Lot, on the south side of King street, near Washington street, and opposite the store of Mr. James Bacon. This situation is equal to any in town for business.
Likewise to Let, for the term of ten years,
An half-acre Lot on Duke and Pitt streets, most eligibly situated for a Garden or Clover Lot, for which purpose only it would be rented. As manure has been thrown up in heaps upon it for several years the ground cannot but be as rich as could be wished. For terms apply to Mr. James Bacon, on King, near Washington street, or to the subscriber, at Notley Hall, opposite to Alexandria.

Thos. L. Washington.

BOSTON, May 27.

Latest from Europe.

By the arrival of the brig Superb, captain Bosworth, from Liverpool, we have been supplied with London and Liverpool prints to the 22d April. The contents of these papers, though they afford no extraordinary details of intelligence, of a general nature, present many indications of active and immediate operations, both by "flood and field." Among the few articles we have been enabled to select, from the latest dates, will be observed, that very important dispatches had been received from Russia, and that they were understood to be highly favorable to the prosecution of the war; that the grand secret expedition had not actually sailed; that the naval armament in the ports of France, Spain and Holland had made many dispositions for putting to sea, having received on board large quantities of troops and military stores.

The anecdote from Paris, must be acknowledged a very extraordinary article; altho' truth may not be fairly connected with the whole affair.

In the earlier dates of our present files of London papers much is said of the improper conduct of lord Melville, while in office, at the head of the admiralty, and a very general interest excited by the manner in which the affair has been discussed in parliament. It appears very fully that his lordship was actually guilty, either of speculating himself with the public money, for his private interest, or knowingly suffering his secretary (Mr. Trotter) to do so, to an immense amount; and that in consequence thereof, he has been compelled to resign his office, and suffer the disgrace of having a resolution passed against him in parliament of gross violation of the law, and a high breach of duty.

Lord Hawkesbury is said to have been appointed to the office of first lord of the admiralty, thus vacated, and that lord Harrowby succeeds to the secretaryship of the home department.

SECRET EXPEDITION.

LONDON, April 18.

There is no truth in the report of the expedition so long preparing at Portsmouth having been countermanded. On the contrary there seems to be an intention of enlarging the scale on which it was at first to be conducted. All the armed defence ships, lately stationed in the Downs, have gone round to Portsmouth, having been previously fitted out as transports, and having taken on board a number of flat-bottomed boats.

April 20.

The expedition sailed yesterday from Portsmouth, under convoy of the Queen and the Dragon.

OF RUSSIA.

April 18.

It is reported by those who pretend to be in the confidence of Ministers, that the dispatches which were received from St. Petersburg, last Monday, contain the most satisfactory assurances of the complete failure of the various artifices employed by the French government to detach the Emperor Alexander from the interests of this country.

The principal article of a treaty of alliance between his majesty and that Sovereign are said to be already agreed upon; and on the same authority we are assured, that only a few points of detail remain to be adjusted previous to a formal communication being made on this important subject to both Houses of Parliament. After the repeated disappointments which have been experienced, relative to the co-operation of Russia, the public cannot place much confidence in the promises made to them upon this occasion.

April 19.

The friends of Lord Melville and Mr. Trotter have set up, as their defence, that the public has been defrauded of nothing by all their speculations with the property which was (not) entrusted to their care.

But the public is at this moment defrauded of every sixpence of the profits they have made by this illegal traffic; and that it may conjecture what may have been the amount of them upon one hundred and thirty four million pounds sterling, which have illegally passed through their hands, let it be remembered here that Navy Bills have been at a discount of 15 per cent. that they bought Navy Bills with these millions; and if they could have employed them in this speculation alone, the profits might have amounted to 150,000l. per million, or 20,100,000l. sterling.

The following is said to be a passage in a certain letter of replication, which is much commented upon at this moment:

"It gives me serious concern, that you have acted so incautiously; and thus deprived me of your valuable services for the present!"

Lord Hawkesbury, we understand, has been appointed first lord of the admiralty, and is expected to be succeeded in the home department by Lord Harrowby.

A cartel is arrived from Morlaix, with the first prisoner from France that has been regularly exchanged since the commencement of the war. We suppose that Captain Puget will now be suffered to proceed to Paris.

The Acasta has on board a million of dollars for the West-India merchants.

April 20.

A Russian general is said to have arrived with dispatches from Petersburg, of great importance. They have not yet transpired, but are believed to be extremely favorable.

NAVAL OPERATION.

Dispatches were yesterday received from Admiral Lord Gardner off Brest, which state, that the enemy had made some movements that indicated an intention of venturing to sea the first favorable opportunity.

At Ferrol a similar disposition appears to be manifested by the French and Spanish squadrons. The following intelligence is contained in a letter from on board his majesty's ship Indefatigable, dated off Ferrol, April 3:

"Every opportunity that occurs, we make it our business to sail in and off the harbor's mouth of Ferrol, to reconnoitre the French and Spanish squadrons laying there. They consist of 6 sail of the line, 2 frigates, two sloops and 1 brig Spanish. At Corrnna, there is one French frigate, making altogether fourteen sail of the line, two frigates, two sloops and one brig.

The French are already manned, and have a great number of troops on board and are expected to sail hourly. The Spaniards are not sufficiently manned yet. Yesterday we boarded an American ship that had just come out from Ferrol, and the captain assured us that the French would in a few days put to sea, and that they were supposed to be destined for the West Indies.

EXTRAORDINARY ANECDOTE.

A respectable morning paper has published the following intelligence which was communicated to the editor in a letter written by a gentleman at Yarmouth, and dated the 12th inst:

"Jean De St. Faust, who commanded and was taken on board, L'Honneur schooner, by his majesty's sloop of war, the Scorpion, Carteret, relates the following, which he declared to have taken place a few evenings prior to his quitting Paris.

"Bonaparthe had commanded a play at the Theatre Francais, and in the usual style of sovereigns, he appeared there with a brilliant retinue, and a very numerous guard. The house overflowed in every part. He was seated in his box and the curtain about to rise, when an Orange apparently artificial, was thrown upon the stage: several voices exclaimed "Ouvrezil, Orange!" (open the Orange!) The cry was repeated and re-echoed in every part of the house.

A principal actor came forward and in compliance with the universal wish opened the Orange, wherein he found a paper containing a 20-livre piece of gold coin. Several voices exclaimed, "Lisez le papier. Lisez le papier!" Read the paper. Read the paper. It was again repeated with like earnestness and enthusiasm as before, the house resounding in many parts with the tumultuous outcry. But before he complied the cautious actor looked towards the Imperial Box, when Bonaparte fancying it might be some adulatory compliment to himself, nodded assent. The house was silent as the grave: When the actor read aloud the following words:

"Jetez, le Corse, prenez votre Louis!"

"Renounce the Corsican, and restore your Louis."

"The rapturous burst of applause which ensued from every part of the house on these words being uttered, was not described; it appeared to rend the house. Bonaparte heard it as his knell, and quitting the Theatre, returned to his palace in the utmost confusion and dismay."

The termination of the discussion relative to Lord Melville, has excited a greater degree of interest in the metropolis, than any event of late years, either foreign or domestic. The public have recognized in their Representatives, the faithful guardians of their interests, not to be seduced from their duties, by the artifices of eloquence, or intimidated, by the menace of power. The British constitution, in its most conspicuous and effective member has been fully displayed, not in theoretic and abstract perfection, but in active and exemplary utility. The pens of a thousand encomiasts could not produce so magnificent an eulogium.

HIGHLY IMPORTANT.!

Mr. Lawrence Keene, an officer of the American ship Canton (which foundered on the 22d of Dec.) came passenger in the brig Acorn, from Lisbon, and informs us that a transport dispatched from admiral Orde, off Cape St. Vincent, arrived April 16, with intelligence of the Toulon fleet consisting of 10 sail of the line and 3 frigates, having arrived off Cadiz-Bay; they were joined by all the Spanish vessels in readiness, and put to sea; destination unknown. A report prevailed at Lisbon, that the French and Spanish fleets were bound to Louisiana! and that the American affairs were a serious aspect at the court of Madrid!!!

Extract of a letter from the commander of a ship of this port, dated at Lisbon, April 15th, 1805.

"I am just informed that dispatches arrived here yesterday from the English squadron off Cadiz, which state that on the 9th, twelve sail of the line (French) had made their appearance off that port, and that the English were obliged to quit the station! The French squadron went into Cadiz, to join the Spanish fleet there; so that a large force must come from England to keep them in, as they have none to spare from the Mediterranean: the Toulon fleet keeps them in continual observation."

Alexandria Daily Advertiser.

MONDAY, JUNE 3.

TOULON FLEET OUT.

VERY LATE AND IMPORTANT.

Captain Folgier, of the brig Acorn, who arrived at Boston on Saturday 25th ult. 35 days from Lisbon is the bearer of the very interesting intelligence of the escape of the French fleet from Toulon. He states that on the 14th April, the Doric transport ship, captain Lamb, arrived at Lisbon, dispatched from sir J. Orde, off Cape St. Vincents, to the British minister, with news of the Toulon fleet being off Cadiz, consisting of 10 sail of the line, and four frigates; that the Defence, of 74 guns narrowly escaped being taken, as she lay with her yards and topmasts down when the French fleet hove in sight. The English minister at Lisbon, immediately ordered out two packets, the Orpheus frigate and a gun-brig, then in port, with dispatches for England: the brig was however obliged to put back, having sprung her bowsprit, and foremast in crossing the Bar. 46 hours after sailing, captain F. spoke the British fleet under sir J. Orde, consisting of two 74's and 3 frigates only, standing for England.

"Captain Folgier further advises, that the French minister had arrived at Lisbon, and was escorted from Bellisle Castle to this city, by the nobility and Prince's Horse Guards. Jerome Bonaparte had set out for France, by the way of Madrid; and his lady was a passenger on board the Erin, which came out of Lisbon in company with captain Folgier, bound for Amsterdam."

Accounts had been received at Lisbon, of the capture of two valuable Brazil ships off the Isle of Corvo by the Algerine squadron.

The above intelligence, brought by Captain Folgier, of the Toulon fleet's being off Cadiz on the 10th April, gives a color of probability to the late report, that a fleet of 19 sail of men of war, was seen off Cape Nichola Mole, on the 8th or 10th of May: as the French fleet were it is presumed, immediately joined by the Spanish ships at Cadiz, on their appearance before that place, and may have then proceeded direct for the West Indies.

Returned yesterday, Gun-Boat No. 7, commanded by lieutenant Ogilvie. This vessel sailed under convoy of the Adams frigate, captain Shaw, for the Mediterranean, about a fortnight ago, but having sprung her mast was obliged to return into port. She left the squadron in lat 37, long. 63, all well. We understand, as soon as the damage is repaired, she will proceed immediately to join the squadron in the Mediterranean. [New-York paper.]

Extract of a letter from Lisbon, dated April 14, 1805.

"Believing the brig Acorn, bound to Boston, to be still at Bellem, I have time in informing you that an office ...ice was received last night from Orde, that the Toulon fleet, (24 sail which thirteen of the line) had got Cadiz; whether with the intent making any stay, or coming out in ...etely in conjunction with the Spanish ships, is unknown. When they first peared Sir John Orde's fleet were said, at an anchor, and the enemy to ward, but they did not offer to attack from which it is inferred their ob important.

Sir John Orde's fleet consisted sail of the line; they are now of Espechiel. The Halcyon, brig of sails this morning with the advice land, the Walsingham Packet to Ferrol and Brest stations. If comes down the Straits speedily, nemy may yet be overtaken, and not, their escape is almost certain. vices from England, of the 2d inst. that the Brest fleet were in Canar watched by Sir Charles Cotton. they elude his vigilance and form tion, we may expect great events summer.

Extract of a letter from Lisbon, dated April 14, 1805.

"Believing the brig Acorn, bound to Boston, to be still at Bellem, I lose no time in informing you that an official advice was received last night from Sir J. Orde, that the Toulon fleet, (24 sail, of which thirteen of the line) had got into Cadiz; whether with the intention of making any stay, or coming out immediately in conjunction with the Spanish ships, is unknown. When they first appeared Sir John Orde's fleet were, it is said, at an anchor, and the enemy to windward, but they did not offer to attack him, from which it is inferred their object is important.

Sir John Orde's fleet consisted of 5 sail of the line; they are now off Cape Espechiel. The Halcyon, brig of war, sails this morning with the advice to England, the Walsingham Packet to Ireland, Ferrol and Brest stations. If Nelson comes down the Straits speedily, the enemy may yet be overtaken, and beat; if not, their escape is almost certain. By advices from England, of the 2d inst. it seems that the Brest fleet were in Camaret Bay, watched by Sir Charles Cotton. Should they elude his vigilance and form a junction, we may expect great events in the summer.

General Junto, the new French Minister, is arrived here."

Dr. Hunter, who was appointed by the president of the United States, conjointly with Mr. Dunbar, of Natchez, to explore the Ouachitta river, and its borders, have completed the object of their mission, and have procured materials for an accurate chart of the river, and the immediate country it passes through. The doctor gives a flattering account of the country, generally, through which he passed. He found a great variety of soil and situation; sometimes a low flat country, whose whole surface is overflown by the river in the wet season; sometimes high and elegant, and at others broken and rolling; but generally fertile and capable of the highest cultivation. He ascended the river about five hundred miles, and found it uniformly gentle and beautiful; (the velocity of the current not being more than half a mile an hour) from 80 to 100 yards in width, and capable of being navigated with boats (with but few obstructions, which are easily removed) as high as the little Missouri, a distance of 450 miles. The doctor, who is a chemist and mineralogist, found few objects worth notice. Iron could not be found in sufficient consequence to be named. Coal was found in places, but not in abundance, and of a very inferior quality. The country abounds in salt springs, some of which are of equal strength with the water of the ocean. He visited the famous medicinal, or hot springs of Ouachitta, and found them among the greatest natural curiosities in the country. They issue from a hill or mountain, of upwards of 200 feet in height, and near 100 from its base; and on immersing the thermometer, it rose in some to 130, and in others to 150 degrees, Fahrenheit; the surface of the ground for some distance round, is so warm as to be felt by the feet in walking over it, and snow melts on it immediately as it falls. They doctor is of opinion that they possess extraordinary medical virtues.

From the information we have obtained from doctor Hunter, and other gentlemen who have visited the Ouachitta country, we are induced to believe that there are few parts of Louisiana, that hold out greater temptations to emigrants. Situated on a fine river; a variety of soil; eligible situations; a pure salubrious atmosphere, and mild temperate climate; these are advantages of which few parts of the world can boast. [Louisiana Gazette.]

On looking over a bundle of old pamphlets the other day I happened to take up Bishop's "Political Delusion," delivered as an Oration, at New-Haven, in September 1800. It may not be unamusing to see what were the profession of the democrats at that time. In the 59th page he says, "Democrats who best know their own calculation, profess that a President of their choice, would probably retain in place all men who had served faithfully." How egregiously have they been deceived if they did not profess that which was false. Where is the federalist that hold an office of any importance that Mr. Jefferson had the power to take from him? Where is the federal officer that has been proved unfaithful? Same page—"The funding system would be annihilated, as fast as means to discharge it, could be procured." How delusive the idea. Under a democratic President, 15000000 dollars of debt have been added to that system. "There [meaning to discharge the funding system) would result from savings, by calling home the diplomatic corps." Gramerciss! What savings have been made, in this item of public expenditures. I wonder the whole debt has not been liquidated by them. Dawson; Livingston; Munroe; Armstrong; Bowdoin; Pinckney; ho! where are you;—come forward and tell your country, the thousands that have been saved by the reduction of the diplomatic corps? What! are you silent? Speak for them Mr. Bishop —Those lips that in eighteen hundred could speak so fluently, are on this subject sealed forever. Well but were savings to be made in no other way; oh yes, "By retrenching salaries, and by the avails of our immense western territory.

Whose salaries have been reduced? Mr. Jefferson's? No; not a cent. The Secretary of State, Treasury, Navy, &c. No: they have been raised. Does Mr. Bishop receive less than the federal officer who was removed to make way for him and his father. Oh no: he receives more by thousands. No salaries then have been reduced. No savings made on this score. And as to our "immense western territory." which furnished land enough, according to Mr. Jefferson, "for the hundreth and thousandth generation," it lies half neglected, and unprofitable—while our citizens and wealth are removing to another immense western territory, which has been bought at an immense price, because, forsnoth, "it opened a wide spread for the blessings of liberty and good government." "Delusion, these are thy trophies."

In the same page Mr. Bishop proceeds, and in italic too "Our Constitution would be firmly supported."

The people believed; changed the administration, and must, by this time, be convinced that it was all a delusion. The constitution has been altered two or three times, and three or four alterations more are now contemplated. At this rate all that is valuable in that instrument will soon be destroyed. O my country, the maniac of delusion seems to have seized on your children, and threatens your constitution, your freedom and happiness, with destruction. [Luzerne Fed.

Aurora abuse.—The resignation of Mr. Griswold and Mr. Goddard, members of congress from Connecticut (says the New-York Commercial Advertiser) has been noticed by Duane in his usually vulgar and indecent style. He has given more than a column containing scarcely a correct assertion—a column filled with misrepresentation, falsehood and abuse. Of these we shall notice a few instances.

He denies that Mr. Griswold possessed either talents, political science, or eloquence; he presents him as having a heavy head and a cold heart, and accuses him of hypocracy and artifice. "Never, says Duane, did man during his time in congress so little regard the means or the arguments which he resorted to. Griswold's artifices were generally conducted with such palpable characteristics of disingenuity, that he never convinced while he often disgusted. Forever meditating some stratagem, and forever disappointed by the incompetency of his ability to conduct the design which he had commenced; or by the incongruity of the conceit itself."

It is in vain to attempt to argue with a man so totally destitute of candor, so completely regardless of truth and decorum, as the editor of the Aurora. He who denied the probity, the patriotism and political science of Wolcott, of Pickering, of Adams, and of Washington—he who denied the distinguished talents and eloquence of Morris, Aimes, and Hamilton —he who charged the vilest crimes upon the brightest ornaments of America, must be expected to revile and calumniate every individual, who is distinguished for his talents, patriotism and virtue. If the great and venerable Washington, if the wisest and best men of our country could not escape the calumny of Duane, it is indeed honorable to Dana and Bayard and Griswold to be numbered among the objects of his vile and malignant slander. The censure of such a man is honorable, the priases of such a man must stamp the object with disgrace.

LONDON PARAGRAPHS.

Dreadful Casualty!

One night last week, an unfortunate man, who was before deeply intoxicated with liquor, gained admittance into a public house, near Cork, and having drank an additional half pint of whiskey, sat down by the kitchen-fire, from whence it was found impossible to remove him. The owner of the house humanely suffered him to remain there during the night; but, on coming down early the next morning to look after his strange guest, he found that the wretched man, during his atate of insensibility, had actually burned his leg off, nor did he awake till the fire approached the pan of his knee! The reader will be glad to hear that the leg was—a wooden one!

Unfortunate adventure in high life.

An event has lately taken place in high life, which whilst it occupies the attention and engrosses the conversation of the whole of the fashionable world, has excited the astonishment of every individual acquainted with the parties. The circumstance is as follows: It is roundly asserted, and the report is generally credited, that a certain lady of distinguished rank has lately lost at the Faro Bank of a titled dame, a sum of money little short of half a million sterling. Even family connections are said to be by this unfortunate affair so deeply involved, that the carriages, horses and servants, are all upon the wing, i. e. the former shortly to be consigned to the hammer, and the latter discharged. The whole of the transaction, and the motives which produced it, appear so inexplicable that time only can develope the seeming mystery. Although a bond is said to have been given for the amount of the sum lost, yet the husband is advised to litigate the matter.

THE BLIND HUSBAND.

A citizen of Tauris, in easy circumstances, had a daughter he was fond of, but so miserably deformed, that nothing less than paternal love could render her supportable. Being desirous of providing for her, he resolved to marry her to a blind man, hoping that such a one not seeing her defects would not treat her with contempt. The design succeeded, and Umer, who espoused her, lived amicably with his wife. A short time after, there arrived at Tauris a famous oculist, who had the reputation of having restored sight to multitudes of people, and the old man was urged to consult him for his son-in-law; to which advice he replied, "I will carefully avoid that experiment, for if the oculist should restore my son-in-law to sight, he will soon restore me my daughter.

What finer case can Casuists select for bringing to issue their celebrated controversy on the duty of an universal sincerity? Was it the duty of the old man to seek the ministration of a remedy, that might have restored his son in law to sight? is a question, that might well exercise all the ingenuity of the old the new school. Casuists who push this doctrine of sincerity to a most unreasonable length; who say, that the truth ought to be told at all times; that it ought never to be concealed; that we are bound to impart as much knowledge to every mind as it is capable of receiving, would of course inculcate the propriety of "pouring light upon the sight less eye ball." But this duty would not appear equally clear to him who, considering sincerity not in the light of an absolute, but an instrumental virtue, is willing to modify its application by all the circumstances of the case. Few husbands are very deep casuists; and no long investigation in such a case would be necessary to decide their choice. Exquisitely delighted as they are with the accomplishments, and mortified by the failings of their wives, few pleasures could enter the eye, of sufficient magic, to charm away the disappointment and disgust which the visible deformities of such a wife are calculated to produce. In this, as in too many other cases, the apparent paradox of the Poet would perhaps become the oracle of eternal truth:

—— "Where ignorance is bliss,
'Tis folly to be wise."

Valuable Property for Sale.

The subscriber being desirous of removing to the western country, offers for sale, the following Tracts of LAND, in Fairfax county, Virginia, viz.

The Tract on which he resides, containing about 740 acres, 5 miles below Alexandria, and within one mile of Potomac river, in an agreeable neighborhood; the situation pleasant and remarkably healthy; the land level and well adapted to the production of Indian-corn, wheat, and other small grain. The improvements are, a large and commodious dwelling house, two stories high, 54 feet long and 35 feet wide, with four rooms and a passage on a floor, a piazza nine feet wide on each front, the full length of the house, and an excellent cellar under the whole house divided into four rooms and a passage; a good kitchen, meat-house, dairy, ice-house, and every other necessary building, all in good repair, with a well of excellent water; a good garden, apple & peach orchard, and about 40 acres of excellent timothy meadow, and as much more may be made at a very small expence: Also, an overseer's house, negro quarters, a granary, &c.

One other Tract, containing about 1250 acres, 6 miles below Alexandria, divided into two farms sufficient to work 9 or 10 hands on each: The buildings on these farms consist only of overseers' houses, negro quarters, granaries, &c. There are 40 or 50 acres of good timothy meadow well enclosed, and a great deal more may be made at a trifling expence; the land very level and fertile, with an abundance of timber. This tract is allowed, by those who know it well, to be equal, if not superior, to any tract of the same extent in this part of the country. It will be sold entire, or divided, as may be found most convenient.

One other Tract near the last mentioned one, containing 402 acres, rented to tenants at will; a considerable portion of which is level and the soil good. There are on it, two or three beautiful and commanding situations for buildings, and a meadow from which one of the tenants sells from 15 to 20 tons of hay a year.

Another Tract, of about 325 Acres, 9 or 10 miles below Alexandria, through which the stage road leading from thence to Richmond passes: This would be an excellent stand for a tavern, there being none at this time between Alexandria and Colchester, a distance of 16 or 18 miles: Also,

One other Tract near the last, containing about 400 acres. Both the last mentioned tracts are likewise rented to tenants at will; they produce good corn, wheat, and other small grain, and there is on each of them a considerable quantity of excellent timothy meadow in good order, from which the tenants sell a great deal of hay. For terms, apply to the subscriber, five miles below Alexandria.
